

Recording TV Shows is a staple in American Culture. I personally am not home to watch many of my favorite shows, making my VCR ever important. To restrict or remove this feature in Digital Televisions will undoubtedly hurt networks by preventing working people like me from watching my shows. VCRs increase loyalty and, in turn, ratings. It is in everyone's best interests to allow consumers to make personal copies (as we have done for many years) of broadcast material -- regardless of format or medium. Do not implement copyright protection for Digital Televisions.
